

What is TOMATO MAKER?

- A 4-2-6 plant food fortified with Calcium and Magnesium
- Tomato Maker is a very good general purpose plant nutrition item, but is intended to provide all the nutrients necessary for robust, tasty tomatoes.

What makes TOMATO MAKER SO UNIQUE?

- Tomato Maker contains a supplement of immediately available and slowly soluble calcium. This helps to prevent the common problem of “Blossom End Rot” in tomatoes.
- Tomato Maker is a unique blend of natural ingredients and earth-friendly synthetics designed to provide complete nutrition and protection from stress.
- Tomato Maker contains potassium silicate: this ingredient deposits silica in the cell walls of the plant, toughening the plant against disease & insect attack, drought, and other environmental stresses.

How is it applied?

- Tomato Maker is a granular product that is sprinkled at the base of the tomato plant and then watered in.
- Each 3 lb bag will treat approximately 6 tomato plants
- There are directions on the label for each stage of tomato plant, from seed to mature plant.

What is blossom end rot?

- Blossom end rot is a common problem in tomatoes. The end of the fruit turns brown, then dry and leathery. This leads to severely degraded fruit quality. It is most severe in times of heat stress and especially after heavy rains or excessive watering

What are the uses for Tomato Maker?

- Although specifically designed for Tomatoes, it can be used on virtually any vegetable with good results. Tomato Maker should provide most, if not all, the fertilization needed for most home vegetable gardens.
